SECOND DISTRICT.

A Republican convention for the second congressional district of the state of Wisconsin, will be held at the city of La Crosse, on Wednesday the 22d day of August, 1860, at 12 o'clock M., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for members of Congress of said district, to be supported at the next general election.

Each assembly district will be entitled to two votes in said convention.

The several assembly district committees are requested to take measures for the appointment of delegates to said congressional convention from their respective districts.

DAVID ATWOOD,
CHARLES HOLST,
JOHN H. KELLOGG,
J. C. CHANDLER,
Madison, June 22, 1860.

Senator Seward in Madison.

Yesterday, without remembering that the National Horse Show is to be held in this city from the 4th to the 7th of September, we suggested that an earlier day in the week than Saturday (the 8th) should be selected for Senator Seward to speak in Madison.—Upon looking at the effect either of these would have upon the other, if the same day is selected for both, we are satisfied that it will be desirable to avoid a collision if it is possible to do so. A very general interest is felt in the success of the horse show throughout the state and northern Illinois, and large numbers of people who design to attend that show also desire to hear Senator Seward. This is the case particularly in this county, while in other parts of the state and northern Illinois, thousands will flock to Madison if they are not attracted here.

If it were not for the Sabbath following the 8th, that day would be highly favorable for the attendance of the visitors to the fair here, which closes on the 7th. Tuesday, the 11th, would give those an opportunity to leave home on Monday whose residence is so far as to require two days travel, or Monday would allow all to reach Madison within a large circuit of that city.

We hope some arrangement may be made by which all can be accommodated and the interests of all promoted. We are confident that if one of the days assigned to the fair is selected for the meeting at Madison, a large number will be kept away; while it is altogether probable that many will prefer to attend the meeting, and desert the fair. It seems to us the interest of both is to select different days for each.

Ton FAST.—The story started by the Madison Patriot that Asa Kinney, of Green Lake county, sergeant-at-arms of the senate last winter, and a prominent republican in the state, had deserted Lincoln to support Douglas, was considerably in advance of the truth. A friend of Mr. Kinney, in Madison, has shown the Journal a letter in which Mr. K. says—“I am not a Douglas man, neither am I Breckinridge man, but a straight out-and-out Lincoln and Hamlin man. In other words, I am a republican.”

Mr. Kinney had expressed a preference for the nomination of Douglas, for the sensible reason that the republicans could beat him easier than any other candidate, and hence he was chronicled as a convert to squatter sovereignty. There are a host of such converts, but the great expounder of that doctrine will receive little benefit from them.

UNIONISM IN CONNECTICUT.—The Bell-Everett state convention of Connecticut has “come off.” The New Haven Journal says there were fifty-six persons present, by actual count, and mentions as among the more active men, Messrs. Ebenezer Jackson, H. C. Lewis, John Dunham, and a number of others who voted for the Thomas H. Seymour ticket last spring.

THE MILWAUKEE DEPUTATORS.—Robert Lynch, the defeciting city clerk of Milwaukee, was arrested a day or two ago on a new complaint for embezzeling $890 license money. Mr. Lynch is now in jail, and his trial is to come off next week. Gardner is still out of town, and his friends will probably move a continuance, on account of ill health.

The Wisconsin says that the trials to the orders in the books which the committee of investigation have had in charge, and upon which they greatly depended for evidence, are said to have been torn off in the worst cases. The question is, if it is so, who did it, and how could they get to the books?

BRECKINRIDGE IN OHIO.—The Chicago Tribune says the Breckinridge Ohio state convention, held at Columbus on the 7th inst., proved to be much more formidable than numbers, spirit, and old influential and leading democrats, than had been expected. Ex-Gov. Reuben Wood presided. A full electoral ticket was appointed. The resolutions re-affirm the Baltimore platform, endorse the nomination of Breckinridge and Lane, and also the administration of Mr. Buchanan, except the retention by him of men in office who wage an open and undisguised war upon the President, and all who support his administration.

Bishop Potter having declined the honor of re-election to the presidency of the Alumni association of Union college, which he has held ever since its organization, Hon. William H. Seward has been chosen to succeed him.

The Springfield Meeting.

The Chicago Tribune, of this morning, has a telegraphic report of the great meeting at Springfield. It is pronounced the largest, most imposing and enthusiastic political gathering ever assembled in the United States. The number present is estimated at 75,000, and it is said that there were more persons in the city at sunrise than the entire crowd at the Douglass demonstration two weeks ago.

The speaking took place on the state fair grounds, where six platforms were kept at work all the afternoon. Trumbull, Dooley, Blair, Gillespie, Palmer, Washburne, Judd, Ogleby, Browning, Gen. John Wilson, Kreisman, and several others addressed the people, while two other stands were devoted to campaign singing.

A procession was formed over ten miles long, which occupied three hours in passing the residence of Mr. Lincoln. There were fifty Wide Awake companies in full uniform.

At 3 o'clock Mr. Lincoln appeared on the ground in carriage with a few friends. An indescribable uproar ensued. The people broke away from all the speakers and rushed around the carriage in mass, shouting and cheering by thousands like mad men. It was feared that the carriage would be crushed and Mr. Lincoln injured; but he was taken from the carriage and borne by the crowd to one of the platforms, where he endeavored to speak to the audience. Several minutes elapsed before his voice could be heard in the deafening cheers which went forth from tens of thousands of throats. Mr. Lincoln spoke a few moments on subjects apart from political issues and then modestly retired.

In the evening the Wide Awake display was brilliant beyond description. The Tribune's despatch, dated 9th o'clock, says—“They have been marching around the State House and thence to Mr. Lincoln's residence for an hour and a half, and ‘the cry is still there.’” Fires worked blazed in every direction, the streets were illuminated, while the vast concourse of people were in a phrenzy of enthusiasm.

When Mr. Bowen returns, our readers will hear from him as to this overwhelming demonstration.

A Remedy Proposed.

The Madison Argus has seen a letter from a holder of some of the La Crosse farm mortgages, and makes the following extract:

“I have written to the debtors that I will release if they do not commence paying interest. I paid 90 per cent, in cash for them, and cannot therefore submit to much loss; and besides I notify them all that they have a valid, legal claim on the directors for the full amount of their stock. It appears to me that some of your Wisconsin papers should make public this important fact. The whole amount of the La Crosse farm mortgage stock is only $1,150,000, and Kielbourn, Kilbourn and Bradley alone must be worth that sum. These associations should purchase Redfield's treasury on railroads; they will find out their only legal remedy against the directors and officers. There has been a recent decision in this circuit (Albany, N. Y.) on this subject, in the case of the Mohawk River Bank, in which the president and cashier were made to pay for stock sold under a false published statement made by them.”

This remedy, ora peaceable contest in the court, is a much better plan than the anti-slavery combinations proposed by some of the swindled victims of railroad speculators.

BRECKINRIDGE AND LANE.—The Madison Argus of Wednesday morning, says:

BRECKINRIDGE AND LANE CLUB.—The friends of Breckinridge and Lane assembled last evening, and formed the National Democratic Association of Madison, and responded to the call for a state convention at Milwaukee, on the 4th of September.

The following officers of the association were chosen:

N. B. Van Slyke, President; E. B. Dean, Jr., Corresponding Secretary; Benton McConnell, Recording Secretary; Alfred Merrill, Treasurer.

Executive Committee.—J. W. Mayhew, J. D. Ruggles, W. H. Plunket, E. A. Tappan, Geo. A. Cary, J. N. Jones, F. Bemis, J. I. C. Botsford, E. A. Galkins and A. C. Ingman.

The Argus says—“A careful consideration of our chances gives us 100 votes for Breckinridge and Lane in Madison.”

A Breckinridge and Lane meeting has been held in Racine, and a club organized. The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That we unanimously ratify the platform adopted by that portion of said convention which put in nomination Hon. John C. Breckinridge for president, and Gen. Scott Lang for vice president.

George B. Judd was elected president, J. Ullman and S. W. Jewett vice presidents, N. H. Joy treasurer, J. L. Page secretary and corresponding clerk. Messrs. Joy, Page, Ullman, John Brancher and W. S. Rice were appointed a business committee. Mr. Judd was last year the democratic candidate for the assembly, Mr. Joy is postmaster, Dr. Page was recommended for the educator mission, and Messrs. Ullman, Jewett and Brancher are leading democrats.

The Racine Journal says—“When such men go to work in earnest as these are now working, the result will show itself when election day comes. We learn that the meeting was very respectable and enthusiastic. Speeches were made by Col. Judd, Dr. Page and Mr. Joy.”

Two of the gentlemen put up as presidential electors by the Douglass men in Iowa refuse to run. There are a good many democrats out there willing to be buried politically with Douglass, but they do not wish to be compelled to dig their own grave.

A SPLENDID SLEEPING CAR.—The New York and Erie road have recently placed on the route, at a cost of $8,000, probably the finest sleeping car in the world. It has seats for sixty persons, which can be converted into single or double berths for forty-four persons. It has two elegant wash-rooms, with every convenience for washing the toilet. A body of water under the car is forced up on either side into a recess where it breaks away like the spray of a fountain, falling back into the reservoir. The air entering this car passes through this water being cooled and purified from all dirt. By a patent arrangement the heat is thrown equally over the whole car.

The population of South Bend, Indiana, is 4,013.

BLAIR'S MAJORITY 1,365.—Frank Blair's majority for the long term in congress, commencing March 4th, 1861, the day on which Lincoln will be inaugurated president, and lasting two years, is 1,365, as follows:

SHORT TERM.		LONG TERM.
Blair.	Barrett.	Blair.	Barrett.

Barrett's majority on short term, 1,365.

The true test of strength between the republican and democratic parties in St. Louis is exhibited by the vote for Blair and Barrett for the two year term. The know nothing voted for Todd and left the field clear to the other parties. But for the short term the Douglass-Breckinridge squatter sovereignty-slave code candidate. But all three combined, they beat heat him by 159 votes in a poll of nearly 26,000 ballots. Who will say that the republican party is not a powerful institution in St. Louis. —Chicago Tribune.

MISSOURI ELECTION.—The returns from the interior of Missouri come in slowly. By comparing the result in a dozen counties which we found reported in yesterday's St. Louis papers, it looks as if Orr, the opposition candidate for governor might be elected. And we think there is a pretty good show for the election of Rollin, American-republican, to congress from the second district, which extends west of St. Louis along the north side of the Missouri river.

SAVED BY A BOAT.—Alex. McMullen was run over by the steam fire engines “Long John,” in Chicago, last Friday, the heavy vehicle passing over his foot, which was severed. Rollins' opposition, for congress is elected in the 2d district, but the majority is not yet known. Orr, for governor, gains in this county over the vote in 1858 about 2,000 votes.

Madison, June 22, 1860.

Senator Seward in Madison.

Yesterday, without remembering that the National Horse Show was to be held in this city from the 4th to the 7th of September, we suggested that an earlier day in the week than Saturday (the 5th) should be selected for Senator Seward to speak in Madison.—

Upon looking at the effect either of these would have upon the other, if the same day is selected for both, we are satisfied that it will be desirable to avoid a collision if it is possible to do so. A very general interest is felt in the success of the horse show throughout the state and northern Illinois, and large numbers of people who design to attend that show also desire to hear Senator Seward. This is the case particularly in this county, while in other parts of the state and northern Illinois, thousands will flock to Madison if they are not attracted here.

If it were not for the Sabbath following the 5th, that day would be highly favorable for the attendance of the visitors to the fair here, which closes on the 7th. Tuesday, the 11th, would give those an opportunity to leave home on Monday whose residence is so far as to require two days travel, or Monday would allow all to reach Madison within a large circuit of that city.

We hope some arrangement may be made by which all can be accommodated and the interests of all promoted. We are confident that if one of the days assigned to the fair is selected for the meeting at Madison, a large number will be kept away; while it is altogether probable that many will prefer to attend the meeting, and desert the fair. It seems to us the interest of both is to select different days for each.

Too Far.—The story started by the Madison Patriot that Asa Kinney, of Green Lake county, sergeant-at-arms of the senate last winter, and a prominent republican in the state, had deserted Lincoln to support Douglas, was considerably in advance of the truth. A friend of Mr. Kinney, in Madison, has shown the Journal a letter in which Mr. K. says—“I am not a Douglas man, neither am I a Breckinridge man, but a straight out-and-out Lincoln and Hamlin man. In other words, I am a republican.”

Mr. Kinney had expressed a preference for the nomination of Douglas, for the sensible reason that the republicans could beat him easier than any other candidate, and hence he was chronicled as a convert to squatter sovereignty. There are a host of just such converts, but the great expounder of that doctrine will receive little benefit from them.

UNIONISM IN CONNECTICUT.—The Bell-Everett state convention of Connecticut has “come off.” The New Haven Journal says there was fifty-six persons present, by actual count, and meetings as among the more active men, Messrs. Ebenezer Jackson, H. C. Lewis, John Dunham, and a number of others who voted for the Thomas H. Seymour ticket last spring.

THE MITAWA DEFECTERS.—Robert Lynch, the defaulter city clerk of Milwaukee, was arrested a day or two ago on a new complaint for embezzeling $900 license money. Mr. Lynch is now in jail, and his trial is to come off next week. Gardner is still out of town, and his friends will probably move a continuance on account of ill health.

The Wisconsin says that the clubs to the orders in the books which the committee of investigation have had in charge, and upon which they greatly depended for evidence, are said to have been torn off in the worst cases. The question is, if it is so, who did it, and how could they get to the books?

BRECKINRIDGE IN OHIO.—The Chicago Tribune says the Breckinridge Ohio state convention, held at Columbus on the 7th inst., proved to be much more formidable to numbers, spirit, and old influential and leading democrats, than had been expected. Ex-Gov. Reuben Wood presided. A full electoral ticket was appointed. The republicans re-affirmed the Baltimore platform, endorse the nomination of Breckinridge and Lane, and also the administration of Mr. Buchanan, except the retention by him of men in office who wage an open and undisguised war upon the President, and all who support his administration.

Bishop Potter having declined the honor of re-election to the presidency of the Alumnae association of Union college, which he has held ever since its organization, Hon. William H. Seward has been chosen to succeed him.

The Springfield Meeting.

The Chicago Tribune, of this morning, has a telegraphic report of the great meeting at Springfield. It is pronounced the largest, most imposing and enthusiastic political gathering ever assembled in the United States. The number present is estimated at 15,000, and it is said that there were more persons in the city at sunrise than the entire crowd at the Douglas demonstration two weeks ago.

The speaking took place on the state fair grounds, where six platforms were kept at work all the afternoon. Trumbull, Bodle, Blair, Gillespie, Palmer, Washburn, Judd, Oglesby, Browning, Gen. John Wilson, Kreisman, and several others addressed the people, while two other stands were devoted to campaign singing.

A procession was formed over ten miles long, which occupied three hours in passing the residence of Mr. Lincoln. There were fifty Wide Awake companies in full uniform.

At 3 o'clock Mr. Lincoln appeared on the ground in a carriage with a few friends. An indescribable uproar ensued. The people broke away from all the speakers and rushed around the carriage in masses, shouting and cheering by thousands like mad men. It was feared that the carriage would be crushed and Mr. Lincoln injured; but he was taken from the carriage and borne by the crowd to one of the platforms, where he endeavored to speak to the audience. Several minutes elapsed before his voice could be heard in the deafening cheers which went forth from tens of thousands of throats. Mr. Lincoln spoke a few moments on subjects apart from political issues and then modestly retired.

In the evening the Wide Awake display was brilliant beyond description. The Tribune's despatch, dated 9 o'clock, says—“They have been marching around the State House and thence to Mr. Lincoln's residence for an hour and a half, and ‘the cry is still there come.’” The works blazed in every direction, the streets were illuminated, while the vast concourse of people were in a phrenzy of enthusiasm.

When Mr. Bowen returns, our readers will hear from him as to this overwhelming demonstration.

A Remedy Proposed.

The Madison Argus has seen a letter from a holder of some of the La Crosse farm mortgages, and makes the following extract:

“I have written to the debtors that I will foreclose if they do not commence paying interest. I paid 20 per cent. in cash for them, and cannot therefore submit to much loss; and besides, I notify them all that they have a valid, legal claim on the directors for the full amount of their stock. It appears to me that some of your Wisconsin papers should make public this important fact. The whole amount of the La Crosse farm mortgage stock is only $1,150,000, and Kneeland, Kilbourn and Hadley alone must be worth that sum. These associations should purchase Redfield's franchise on railways; they will find out their only legal remedy is against the directors and officers. There has been a recent decision in this circuit (Albany, N. Y.) on this subject, in the case of the Mohawk River Bank, in which the president and cashier were made to pay for stock sold under a false published statement made by them.”

This remedy, or a peaceful contest in the courts, is much better plan than the anti-slavery combinations proposed by some of the swindled victims of railroad speculators.

BRECKINRIDGE AND LANE.—The Madison Argus of Wednesday morning, says:

BRECKINRIDGE AND LANE CLUB.—The friends of Breckinridge and Lane assembled last evening, and formed the National Democratic Association of Madison, and responded to the call for a state convention at Milwaukee, on the 4th of September.

The following officers of the association were chosen:

N. B. Van Slyke, President; E. B. Dean, Jr., Corresponding Secretary; Beaton McConnell, Recording Secretary; Alfred Merrill, Tell. Treasurer.

Executive Committee.—J. W. Mayhew, J. D. Ruggles, W. H. Plunket, E. A. Tappan, Geo. A. Cary, J. N. Jones, F. Benis, J. I. Cotsford, E. A. Falkins and A. C. Ingman.

The Argus says—“A careful consideration of our chances gives us 100 votes for Breckinridge and Lane in Madison.”

A Breckinridge and Lane meeting has been held in Racine, and a club organized. The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That we unhesitatingly ratify the platform adopted by that portion of said convention which put in nomination Hon. John C. Breckinridge for president, and Gen. Joseph Lane for vice president.

George B. Judd was elected president, J. Ullman and S. W. Jewett vice presidents, N. H. Joy treasurer, J. L. Page secretary and corresponding clerk. Messrs. Joy, Page, Ullman, John Brancher and W. S. Rice were appointed a business committee.

Mr. Judd was last year the democratic candidate for the assembly; Mr. Joy is postmaster, Dr. Page was recommended for the Eulerian mission, and Messrs. Ullman, Jewett and Brancher are leading democrats.

The Racine Journal says—“When such men go to work in earnest as these are now working, the result will show itself when election day comes. We learn that the meeting was very respectable and enthusiastic.

Speeches were made by Col. Judd, Dr. Page and Mr. Joy.”

Two of the gentlemen put up as presidential electors by the Douglas men in Iowa refuse to run. There are a good many democrats out there willing to be buried politically with Douglas, but they do not wish to be compelled to dig their own graves.

A SPLENDID SLEEPING CAR.—The New York and Erie road have recently placed on the route, at a cost of $8,000, probably the finest sleeping car in the world. It has seats for sixty persons, which can be converted into single or double berths for forty-four persons. It has two elegant wash-rooms, with every convenience for making the toilet. A body of water under the car is forced up on either side into a recess, where it breaks away like the spray of a fountain, falling back into the reservoir. The air entering this car passes through all dirt. By a patent arrangement the heat is thrown equally over the whole car.

THE EUROPEAN CROPS.—The last steamer brings advices more favorable to the European crops. The weather, which all through June had been unusually bad for the growing crops, had at last taken a favorable turn, and under the influence of sunshine and equable temperature, the grain and grass were pushing forward with wonderful vigor. At the great grain markets the tone of the trade was by no means active in favor of the buyer, but a feeling of distrust seemed to exist lest a fair grain crop might, after all, be reaped, and thus, with the large foreign imports, over-supply the market. In France, the cool temperature of June and early July would delay the ripening of grain, but not affect it injuriously.

Some old letters have recently been exhumed, written by John Bell, many years ago, denouncing Henry Clay, and charging his appointment as a member of the cabinet of John Quincy Adams, as the result of “bargain and corruption.” As Mr. Bell's supporters deal largely in appeals to Henry Clay whigs, these letters will not be likely to gain him accessions from their ranks.

THE SPRINGFIELD MEETING.—Mr. Everett, the American nominee for Vice President, in a letter in 1856, charged upon Douglas all the mischievous agitation that had distracted the country for the previous two years. He wrote:

“If by laying down my life this hour, I could undo what has been done the last two years (beginning with the disastrous repeal of the Missouri compromise), to enable the different parts of the country against each other, and weaken the ties which unite them, I would willingly, cheerfully make the sacrifice.”

The population of South Bend, Indiana, is 4,013.

BLAIR'S MAJORITY 1,655.—Frank Blair's majority for the long term to congress, commencing March 4, 1861, the day on which Lincoln will be inaugurated president, and lasting two years, is 1,356, as follows:

STATE TERM.	1859-60	1860-61
Missouri	Barrett	Blair
Illinoian	11,331	10,820
Michigan	1,700	2,225

SAVED BY A BOAT.—Alex. McMullen was run over by the steam fire engine “Long John,” in Chicago, last Friday, the heavy vehicle passing over his foot, which was miraculously saved by the sole of a heavy boot, which turned on edge and sustained for a moment the enormous pressure of five tons.

TELEGRAPH TO ST. PAUL.—The line of telegraph now being constructed between La Crosse and St. Paul, will be completed the present week. This will bring St. Paul into almost instantaneous connection with the east. The line from La Crosse and St. Paul will have stations at Hastings, Red Wing, Lake City, Reed's Landing, Wabash and Winona.

Mount Zion.

On the morning of the 6th inst., I stood on the top of Mount Zion, from which commanding eminence I enjoyed a glorious view of the "glorious region round about"—not the "Jordan" exactly; for I would apprise my readers that no reference is made here to the Mount Zion of the Bible, which was represented anciently as "the joy of the whole earth," meaning probably no more than that it was the pride and glory of the land of Judea. The place to which I allude, however, is a veritable mount of no inconsiderable importance, located in the town of Harmony, county of Rock, and state of Wisconsin, five miles east from the city of Janesville. This spot may well be called Mount Zion. It certainly puts one in mind of the "holy hill" of Hebrew notoriety.

The prospect from this point is so grand and glorious; we may take in at a few successive glances such a broad sweep of beautiful country; as was granted to Moses on the "top of Pisgah" we may here turn our "eyes westward, and northward, and southward, and eastward," and behold and contemplate, probably, almost as beautiful and enchanting a spectacle as the great Hebrew leader and lawgiver was permitted to behold. Another fact that reminds us of the holy mount of old, is that on the Mount Zion I am describing—on its very summit, there dwells a David. Besides many others bearing the name of ancient Bible worthies reside here and hereabout. I may make mention of James, and John, and Peter, and Elianah, and Erastus, and Jeremiah; how many more might be added to the list I will not pretend to say. As to the names of the other sex, called sometimes by old fogies the weaker, I confess myself not very well posted. I cannot say therefore how many Sarahs and Rebeccas, and Marys and Marthas may be found here. Undoubtedly there is a goodly number of them.

LIFE INSURANCE.

Those desiring this safe and cheap protection for their families, can see our Wisconsin company. It has already become, in reality, a state institution having agents and partners among the best business men in all the principal towns in the state. It is longer a matter of doubt that life insurance can be conducted well in Wisconsin as in Connecticut or any other eastern state.

Of this fact I can give ample testimony—Mount Zion is a noble eminence; and the view from it, if not imposing, is at least joyful and refreshing, especially to any one who has the mind and the heart to appreciate country life and rural scenes.

Standing on its farm-crowned summit the other morning, I was enabled to overlook a vast expanse of country, almost every foot of which is richly adapted to agricultural purposes. From no other point in Rock county—the banner county in the state probably, for farm products,—can such a view be obtained, the beholder standing on terra firma. Indeed, I doubt whether so many contiguous acres of cultivated land can be seen from any other point in Wisconsin. I have traveled considerably within her borders, but have enjoyed no such view elsewhere. How many farms and farm-houses, etc., may be seen from this point—how many cultivated and exceedingly fertile acres are spread out in all directions, I cannot pretend to say. This I know: on what side soever I turned my eyes, I beheld the yellow, ripened grain, standing in shocks—not few and far between, but studding the ground thickly, indicating that the yield is unusually large. Besides the wheat and oats and barley which has been laid prostrate by the "raping mæshen," as a Paddy called the reaper, and which staple product will soon be dotting the numerous farms in tens of thousands of stacks, we may see from this point fields of corn in abundance, and a few patches of potatoes. Indeed, almost every variety of garden and farm product may be brought within the range of vision from this splendid natural observatory. I should like to know just how many bushels of grain and root crops of all kinds will be produced this season from the little world of fertility in view from Mount Zion. At all events, the people on its summit and slopes, and in the region round about, need harbor no fears of a famine for months to come—while they gather in the abundant harvest, a lively sense of gratitude to the Infinite Giver should pervade their souls.

One fact is deserving of notice here.—The people of Mount Zion and vicinity are all right, politically. They are looking forward joyfully to the "good time coming," when Abraham Lincoln will be inaugurated President of the United States. This speaks well for their patriotism and intelligence.

SOME of the citizens of Hudson are dissatisfied with the census as taken by Marshal Gray, and an effort is being made to have it taken over again. The dissatisfaction is chiefly occasioned by the population of the city of Pleasant being greater than that of Hudson, although more votes are offered in the latter city.—Madison Patriot.

Such a census as that just taken, where the name of each person is returned, and families, boarding houses and hotels are not aggregated to help out a large population, as in the last enumeration, are a severe test to many pretentious towns and cities. So far, we have not known an instance where the return of the marshal has equaled the estimated population, and if a new enumeration should be taken wherever dissatisfaction exists, everything like reliability in the census would be destroyed.

A correspondent of the Milwaukee News, who signs himself "Ilion," makes himself very free with the congressional candidates in this city. If he should continue his contributions to that interesting sheet and write his signature "Ilion," he would correctly characterize his lucubrations.

HORACE GREELEY ON WISCONSIN.—One of the Milwaukee papers says that Horace Greeley has written a private letter to a gentleman in that city, in which he expresses the opinion that "Wisconsin had better pay her debts or leave the republican party."

WISCONSIN, as a state, owes no debts she does not pay. She has only $100,000 of state bonds outstanding, and on these the interest is paid promptly as it becomes due. For whatever debts individuals in the state owe, the state is in now way responsible.

The sun upon Wisconsin republicans comes with a bad grace from Mr. Greeley. He, least of any man, has any reason to complain of them. Thousands of his papers are taken in the state, and paid for in advance, though, for some reason, his journal too frequently manifests a feeling towards the state for which there is no occasion or justice. If he should find the Evening Post substituted for the Tribune, it would require no long search to discover the reason.

SECOND DISTRICT.

A Republican Convention for the Second Congressional District of the State of Wisconsin, will be held at the city of La Crosse on Wednesday the 22d day of August, 1860, at 12 o'clock M., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for member of Congress who shall be entitled to be supported at the next general election.

Each assembly district will be entitled to two delegates in said convention.

The several assembly district committees are requested to take measures for the appointment of delegates to said congressional convention from their respective districts.

DAVID ATWOOD,
CHARLES HOOTON,
WILLIAM J. HANSEMAN,
J. C. CHANDLER,
Madison, June 23, 1860.

Senator Seward in Madison.

Yesterday, without remembering that the National Horse Show is to be held in this city from the 4th to the 10th of September, we suggested that an earlier day in the week than Saturday (the 8th) should be selected for Senator Seward to speak in Madison.

Upon looking at the effect either of these would have upon the other, if the same day is selected for both, we are satisfied that it will be desirable to avoid a collision if it is possible to do so. A very general interest is felt in the success of the horse show throughout the state and northern Illinois, and large numbers of people who design to attend that show also desire to hear Senator Seward.

This is the case particularly in this county, while in other parts of the state and northern Illinois, thousands will flock to Madison if they are not attracted here. If it were not for the Sabbath following the 8th, that day would be highly favorable for the attendance of the visitors to the fair here, which closes on the 10th. Tuesday, the 11th, would give those an opportunity to leave home on Monday whose residence is so far as to require two days travel, or Monday would allow all to reach Madison within a large circuit of that city.

We hope some arrangement may be made by which all can be accommodated and the interests of all promoted. We are confident that if one of the days assigned to the fair is selected for the meeting at Madison, a large number will be kept away; while it is altogether probable that many will prefer to attend the meeting, and desert the fair. It seems to us the interest of both is to select different days for each.

TOO FAST.—The story started by the Madison Patriot that Asa Kinney, of Green Lake county, sergeant-at-arms of the senate last winter, and a prominent republican in the state, had deserted Lincoln to support Douglas, was considerably in advance of the truth. A friend of Mr. Kinney, in Madison, has shown the Journal a letter in which Mr. K. says—"I am not a Douglas man, neither am I a Breckinridge man, but a straight out-and-out Lincoln and Hamlin man. In other words, I am a republican."

Mr. Kinney had expressed a preference for the nomination of Douglas, for the sensible reason that the republicans could beat him easier than any other candidate, and hence he was chronicled as a convert to squatter sovereignty. There are a host of such converts, but the great expounder of that doctrine will receive little benefit from them.

UNIONISM IN CONNECTICUT.—The Bell-Everett state convention of Connecticut has "come off." The New Haven Journal says there was fifty-six persons present by actual count, and mentions as among the more active men, Messrs. Ebenezer Jackson, H. C. Lewis, John Dunham, and a number of others who voted for the Thomas H. Seymour ticket last spring.

THE MILWAUKEE DEFECTORS.—Robert Lynch, the defaulter city clerk of Milwaukee, was arrested a day or two ago on a new complaint for embezzeling $99000000. Mr. Lynch is now in jail, and his trial is to come off next week. Gardner is still out of town, and his friends will probably move a continuance on account of ill health.

The Wisconsin says that the stubs to the orders in the books which the committee of investigation had in charge, and upon which they greatly depended for evidence, are said to have been torn off in the worst cases. The question is, if it is so, who did it, and how could they get to the books?

BRECKINRIDGE AND LANE.—The Madison Argus of Wednesday morning, says:

BRECKINRIDGE AND LANE CLUB.—The friends of Breckinridge and Lane assembled last evening, and formed the National Democratic Association of Madison, and responded to the call for a state convention at Milwaukee, on the 4th of September.

The Springfield Meeting.

The Chicago Tribune, of this morning, has a telegraphic report of the great meeting at Springfield. It is pronounced the largest, most imposing and enthusiastic political gathering ever assembled in the United States. The number present is estimated at 75,000, and it is said that there were more persons in the city at sunrise than the entire crowd at the Douglass demonstration two years ago.

The speaking took place on the state fair grounds, where six platforms were kept at work all the afternoon. Trumbull, Doubtless, Blair, Gillespie, Palmer, Washburne, Judd, Ogleby, Browning, Gen. John Wilson, Kreisman, and several others addressed the people, while two other stands were devoted to campaign singing.

A procession was formed over ten miles long, which occupied three hours in passing the residence of Mr. Lincoln. There were fifty Wide Awake companies in full uniform.

At 8 o'clock Mr. Lincoln appeared on the ground in a carriage with a few friends. An indescribable uproar ensued. The people broke away from all the speakers and rushed around the carriage en masse, shouting and cheering by thousands like mad men. It was feared that the carriage would be crushed and Mr. Lincoln injured; but he was taken from the carriage and borne by the crowd to one of the platforms, where he endeavored to speak to the audience. Several minutes elapsed before his voice could be heard in the deafening cheers which went forth from tens of thousands of throats. Mr. Lincoln spoke a few moments on subjects apart from political issues and then modestly retired.

In the evening the Wide Awake display was brilliant beyond description. The Tribune's despatch, dated 9th o'clock, says: "They have been marching around the State House and thence to Mr. Lincoln's residence for an hour and a half, and the cry is still they come." Fire works blazed in every direction, the streets were illuminated, while the vast concourse of people were in a狂热 of enthusiasm.

When Mr. Bowen returns, our readers will hear him as to this overwhelming demonstration.

A Remedy Proposed.

The Madison Argus has seen a letter from a holder of some of the La Crosse farm mortgages, and makes the following extract:

"I have written to the debtors that I will foreclose if they do not commence paying interest. I paid 90 per cent. in cash for them, and cannot therefore submit to much loss; and besides I notify them all that they have a valid, legal claim on the directors for the full amount of their stock. It appears to me that some of your Wisconsin bondholders should make public this important fact. The whole amount of the La Crosse farm mortgage stock is only $150,000, and Kneeland, Kilbourn and Hadley alone must be worth that sum. These associations should purchase Redfield's trustees on railways; they will find out their legal remedy is against the directors and officers. There has been a recent decision in this circuit, (Albany, N. Y.) on this subject, in the case of the Mohawk River Bank, in which the president and cashier were made to pay for stock sold under a false published statement made by them."

This remedy, ora peaceable contest in the courts, is a much better plan than the anti-combinations proposed by some of the swindled victims of railroad speculators.

BRECKINRIDGE AND LANE.—The Madison Argus of Wednesday morning, says:

BRECKINRIDGE AND LANE CLUB.—The friends of Breckinridge and Lane assembled last evening, and formed the National Democratic Association of Madison, and responded to the call for a state convention at Milwaukee, on the 4th of September.

The following officers of the association were chosen:

B. V. Van Slyke, President; E. B. Dean, Jr., Corresponding Secretary; Benton McConnell, Recording Secretary; Alfred Merrill, Treasurer.

Executive Committee.—J. W. Mayhew, D. Ruggles, W. H. Plunkett, E. A. Tappan, Geo. A. Cary, J. N. Jones, F. Bemis, J. C. Botsford, E. A. Calkins and A. C. Ingham.

The Argus says—"A careful consideration of our chances gives us 100 votes for Breckinridge and Lane in Madison."

A Breckinridge and Lane meeting has been held in Racine, and a club organized. The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That we unhesitatingly ratify the platform adopted by that portion of said convention which put in nomination Hon. John C. Breckinridge for president, and Gen. Joseph Lane for vice president.

George B. Judd was elected president, J. Ullman and S. W. Jewell vice presidents, N. H. Joy treasurer, J. L. Page secretary and corresponding clerk. Messrs. Joy, Page, Ullman, John Brancher and W. S. Rice were appointed a business committee. Mr. Judd was last year the democratic candidate for the assembly, Mr. Joy is postmaster, Dr. Page was recommended for the Euclid mission, and Messrs. Ullman, Jewell and Brancher are leading democrats. The Racine Journal says—"When such men go to work in earnest as these are now working, the result will show itself when election day comes. We know that the meeting was very respectable and enthusiastic. Speeches were made by Col. Judd, Dr. Page and Mr. Joy."

Two of the gentlemen put up as presidential electors by the Douglas men in Iowa refuse to run. There are a good many democrats out there willing to be buried politically with Douglas, but they do not wish to be compelled to dig their own graves.

EVERETT ON DOUGLAS.—Mr. Everett, the American nominee for Vice President, in a letter in 1853, charged upon Douglas all the mischievous agitation that had disintegrated the country for the previous two years. He wrote:

"If by laying down my life this hour, I could undo what has been done the last two years (beginning with the disastrous repeal of the Missouri compromise), to exhibit the different parts of the country against each other, and weaken the ties which unite them, I would willingly, cheerfully make the sacrifice."

A SPLENDID SLEEPING CAR.—The New York and Erie road have recently placed on the route, at a cost of $8,000, probably the finest sleeping car in the world. It has seats for sixty persons, which can be converted into single or double berths for fifty-four persons. It has two elegant wash-rooms, with every convenience for making the toilet. A body of water under the car is forced up on either side into a recess, where it breaks away like the spray of a fountain, falling back into the reservoir. The air entering this car passes through this water, being cooled and purified from all dirt. By a patent arrangement the heat is thrown equally over the whole car.

EVERETT ON DOUGLAS.—Mr. Everett, the American nominee for Vice President, in a letter in 1853, charged upon Douglas all the mischievous agitation that had disintegrated the country for the previous two years. He wrote:

"If by laying down my life this hour, I could undo what has been done the last two years (beginning with the disastrous repeal of the Missouri compromise), to exhibit the different parts of the country against each other, and weaken the ties which unite them, I would willingly, cheerfully make the sacrifice."

SOME OLD LETTERS have recently been exhumed, written by John Bell, many years ago, denouncing Henry Clay, and charging his opposition as a member of the cabinet of John Quincy Adams, as the result of "bargain and corruption." As Mr. Bell's supporters deal largely in appeals to Henry Clay whigs, these letters will not be likely to gain him accessions from their ranks.

The population of South Bend, Indiana, is 4,013.

BLAIR'S MAJORITY 1,365.—Frank Blair's majority for the long term to congress, even mencing March 4th, 1861, the day on which Lincoln will be inaugurated president, and lasting two years, is 1,365, as follows:

STANDING	TIME	LONG TERM
Blair	Barrett	Blair
11,141	1842	1857
12,425	1855	1872
12,365	1858	1863
12,328	1861	1876
12,120	1864	1881

Barrett's majority on short term 1,365.

The true test of strength between the republican and democratic parties in St. Louis is exhibited by the vote for Blair and Barrett for the two year term. The former voted for Todd and left the field clear to the other parties. But for the short term they mixed in, and mostly supported the Douglas-Breckinridge squatter sovereignty candidate. But all three combined, they only beat him by 169 votes in a poll of nearly 26,000 ballots. Who will say that the republican party is not a powerful institution in St. Louis.—Chicago Tribune.

MISCELLANEOUS ELECTION.—The returns from the interior of Missouri come slowly. By comparing the result in a dozen counties which we found reported in yesterday's St. Louis papers, it looks as if Orr, the opposition candidate for governor might be elected.

The drought in Rhode Island continues, and has become a serious affair to many of the small mills, which are entirely stopped. Whole factory villages are out of work.

SAVED BY BOOR.—Alex. McMullen was run over by the steam fire engine "Long John" in Chicago, last Friday, the heavy vehicle passing over his foot, which was miraculously saved by the sole of a heavy boot, which turned on edge and sustained a moment the enormous pressure of five tons.

SAVAGE.—"Six days shall thou labor." I have often heard discourses from the pulpit, on the latter part of the commandment requiring the observance of the seventh day by ceasing from labor, but have never heard one on that part I have quoted.

I would like to see another sect formed, a part of whose creed should require every member to labor six days in the week, and whose discipline should enforce its observance.

Is there any duty enjoined in the scriptures more important than this? Constant employment allows no time to acquire bad habits; and if it were usual, how little of that folly and extravagance would be seen when we characterize our church assemblies! If such an important religious duty as this is not to be enforced, why enforce any other? If idleness is the parent of vice, why not enforce labor, which is of virtue of virtue? Laborum est oritur—to labor is to pray—is a Latin adage, embodying a precept worthy the teachings of Christianity. Six days of useful employment out of seven, is what is required of us—and no matter what our condition as to wealth, the requirement is imperative upon all, because the moral welfare of man demands occupation, and his aim should be self alone.

THE SLANG OF THE THIEVES.—It is rather amusing to read the correspondence in the last number of that virtuous newspaper, named the Police Gazette. The last number informs us that a few "fly cops" were sent to the Great Eastern, on her late trip, to prevent certain impudent persons from going through the snoozes. They are informed that a "fence" in Williamsburg was recently "duffed" out of six "cases." Another article says that the "blibkes" witnessed the manœuvres of the Zouaves in Boston. And again we receive the intelligence that there are now very few of the "knocking" fraternity who are not decently dressed.

and numbers of them are sporting their "thimbles," "popps" and "fawnies." Once more: "The disappearance of 'fumumes' and 'impos' in abundance." Finally, the military parades have been attended chiefly by young "genous," who go in for anything they can't hold off. Well, we give up. We have no dictionary to lift our mind from the fog in which the queer phrases we have quoted have plunged it. Do the thieves really have a language of their own like the gypsies?

CHURCH IN INDIANA.—Cassius M. Clay has been canvassing the state of Indiana for the last three weeks, and wherever he goes has gone the people have flocked to hear him by thousands. On his way to Toledo, Mr. Clay passed through Dayton, Ohio, and again he received the intelligence that there are now very few of the "knocking" fraternity who are not decently dressed.

and numbers of them are sporting their "thimbles," "popps" and "fawnies." Once more:

"The disappearance of 'fumumes' and 'impos' in abundance." Finally, the military parades have been attended chiefly by young "genous," who go in for anything they can't hold off. Well, we give up. We have no dictionary to lift our mind from the fog in which the queer phrases we have quoted have plunged it. Do the thieves really have a language of their own like the gypsies?

COFFEE AS A DEODORIZER.—We beg to remind sportsmen and others that coffee is perfect and safe deodorizer; a sprig will keep game fresh and sweet for several days. Clean your game, that is, wipe off the blood, cover the absorbent parts with paper, wrap up the heads, and then sprinkle the ground coffee over among the feathers or fur, as the case may be; pack up carefully, and the game will be preserved fresh and sweet in the most unfavorable weather. Game sent open and loose, cannot, of course, be treated in this manner; but all game packed in boxes or dampers may be deodorized as described. A teacupful of coffee is enough for a brace of birds, and this proportion for more or larger game. Fresh ground coffee may be used to advantage in a sickroom; a few spoonfuls spread and exposed on a plate and burned by a red-hot iron, is a safe and pleasant infumigator.—Breath.

CONSTITUTION OF W. D. McINDOE.—Our fellow citizen, Hon. W. D. McIndoe, of whose affliction the public are acquainted, has since the amputation suffered the most intense pain. From the terrible manner in which the arm was mangled with the saw, the formidable disease, erysipelas, and the untoward and excruciating pain of neuralgia of the sinaps and fore-arm, the circumstances of his case have been alarming. However, we are happy to state, from a personal interview with Dr. Wolcott of Milwaukee and also Dr. Marks, that the operation was skilfully and nicely performed, and the entire course of treatment pursued by Dr. Gordon has been truly commendable and deserving of much credit and merit from his profession. We are informed that for the past week, Mr. McIndoe has been improving, and although his recovery has been, and no doubt will be slow, his friends are pleased to learn of the favorable and encouraging report.—Watson, Wisconsin, 2d inst.

Mount Zion.

On the morning of the 6th inst., I stood on the top of Mount Zion, from which commanding eminence I enjoyed a glorious view of the "glorious region round about"—not the "Jordan" exactly; for I would apprise my readers that no reference is made here to the Mount Zion of the Bible, which was represented anciently as "the joy of the whole earth," meaning probably no more than that it was the pride and glory of the land of Judea. The place to which I allude, however, is a veritable mount of no inconsiderable importance, located in the town of Harmony, county of Rock, and state of Wisconsin, five miles east from the city of Janesville. This spot may well be called Mount Zion.

A correspondent of the Milwaukee News, who signs himself "Ili-on," makes himself very free with the congressional candidates in this city. If he should continue his contributions to that interesting sheet and write his signature "Ili-on," he would correctly characterize his lucubrations.

HORACE GREELEY OF WISCONSIN.—One of the Milwaukee papers says that Horace Greeley has written a private letter to a gentleman in that city, in which he expresses the opinion that "Wisconsin had better pay her debts or lose the republican party."

Wisconsin, as a state, owes no debts she does not pay. She has only $100,000 of state bonds outstanding, and on these the interest is paid promptly as it becomes due. For whatever debts individuals in the state owe, the state is in now way responsible.

The slur upon Wisconsin republicans comes with a bad grace from Mr. Greeley. He, least of any man, has any reason to complain of them. Thousands of his peers are taken in the state, and paid for in advance, though, for some reason, his journal too frequently manifests a feeling towards the state for which there is no occasion or justice. If he should find the Evening Post substituted for the Tribune, it would require no long search to discover the reason.

Life Insurance.

Those desirous of a good and cheap protection for their families, can secure it in our Wisconsin company, which is already known in reality, as a state institution, having agents and partners among the best business men in all the principal towns in the state. It is no longer a matter of doubt that the insurance can be conducted as well in Wisconsin as in Connecticut or any other eastern state.

While daily demands that men should insure their life, it also demands that they should keep their money for investment at home. Confidence that our success has been more than equal to that of the most "unprecedented," we would cordially invite all our clients to call at the office, southwest corner of Main and Wisconsin streets, and examine for themselves.

Mount Zion.

On the morning of the 6th inst., I stood on the top of Mount Zion, from which commanding eminence I enjoyed a glorious view of the "glorious region round about"—not the "Jordan" exactly; for I would apprise my readers that no reference is made here to the Mount Zion of the Bible, which was represented anciently as "the joy of the whole earth," meaning probably no more than that it was the pride and glory of the land of Judea. The place to which I allude, however, is a veritable mount of no inconsiderable importance, located in the town of Harmony, county of Rock, and state of Wisconsin, five miles east from the city of Janesville. This spot may well be called Mount Zion. It certainly puts one in mind of the "Holy hill" of Hebrew notoriety.

HORACE GREENLEY ON WISCONSIN.—One of the Milwaukee papers says that Horace Greeley has written a private letter to a gentleman in that city, in which he expresses the opinion that "Wisconsin had better pay her debts or leave the republican party."

Wisconsin, as a state, owes no debts which she does not pay. She has only $100,000 of state bonds outstanding, and on these the interest is paid promptly as it becomes due.

For whatever debts individuals in the state owe, the state is in now way responsible.

The slur upon Wisconsin republicans comes with a bad grace from Mr. Greeley. He, least of any man, has any reason to complain of them. Thousands of his papers are taken in the state, and paid for in advance, though, for some reason, his journal too frequently manifests a feeling towards the state for which there is no occasion or justice. If he should find the Evening Post substituted for the Tribune, it would require no long search to discover the reason.

LIFE INSURANCE.

Those desirous of life and cheap protection for their families, can secure it in our Western company.

It has already become, in reality, a sure institution, having agents and partners among the best business men in all the principal cities in the state. It is no longer a matter of doubt that life insurance can be conducted as well in Wisconsin as in Connecticut or any other eastern state.

Of this fact I can give ample testimony—Mount Zion is a noble eminence; and the view from it, if not imposing, is at least joyful and refreshing, especially to any one who has the mind and the heart to appreciate country life and rural scenes. Standing on its farm-crowned summit the other morning, I was enabled to overlook a vast expanse of country, almost every foot of which is richly adapted to agricultural purposes. From no other point in Rock county—the banner county in the state probably, for farm products,—can such a view be obtained, the beholder standing on terra firma. Indeed, I doubt whether so many contiguous acres of cultivated land can be seen from any other point in Wisconsin. I have traveled considerably within her borders, but have enjoyed no such view elsewhere. How many farms and farm-houses, etc., may be seen from this point—how many cultivated and exceedingly fertile acres are spread out in all directions, I cannot pretend to say. This I know: on what side soever I turned my eyes, I beheld the yellow, ripened grain, standing in shocks—not few and far between, but studding the ground thickly, indicating that the yield is unusually large. Besides the wheat and oats and barley which has been laid prostrate by the "raping man-sheen," as a Paddy called the reaper, and which staple products will soon be dotting the numerous farms in tens of thousands of stacks,—we may see from this point fields of corn in abundance, and a few patches of potatoes. Indeed, almost every variety of garden and farm product may be brought within the range of vision from this splendid natural observatory. I should like to know just how many bushels of grain and root crops of all kinds will be produced this season from the little world of fertility in view from Mount Zion. At all events, the people on its summit and slopes, and in the region round about, need harbors no fears of a famine for months to come.—While they gather in the abundant harvest, a lively sense of gratitude to the Infinite Giver should pervade their souls.

One fact is deserving of notice here.—The people of Mount Zion and vicinity are all right, politically. They are looking forward joyfully to the "good time coming," when Abraham Lincoln will be inaugurated President of the United States. This speaks well for their patriotism and intelligence.

RICHARD RURAL.

HILL-SIDE HOME, Aug. 8, 1860.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.—The Madison Patriot contains a call for a democratic convention in the Spring Valley district to meet at Oxford, Saturday, the 25th inst., to appoint two delegates to the Prairie du Chien congressional convention.

Lost.—Two city orders issued to A. C. Fish, dated May 29th, 1860—No. 96, $50, No. 97, $45.

ATTENTION
Wide Awakes!

There will be a street drill this evening, as also a business meeting of great importance. Let every member appear in full uniform, and be at the hall at precisely half past seven.

A. B. MCLEAN, Captain.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.—The stable of Mr. D. C. Russell, in the town of Dane, Dane county, was struck by lightning on Tuesday evening, about 6 o'clock, and entirely consumed by fire. A pair of fine horses belonging to Thomas Stevenson, that were in the stable, were instantly killed.

Some of the citizens of Hudson are dissatisfied with the census as taken by Marshal Gray, and an effort is being made to have it taken over again. The dissatisfaction is chiefly occasioned by the population of that of Prescott being greater than that of Hudson, although more votes are polled in the latter city.—Madison Patriot.

Such a census as that just taken, where the name of each person is returned, and families, boarding houses and hotels are not aggregated to help out a large population, as in the last enumeration, are a severe test to many pretentious towns and cities. So far, we have not known an instance where the return of the marshal has equaled the estimated population, and if a new enumeration should be taken wherever dissatisfaction exists, everything like reliability in the census would be destroyed.
